LITTLE BOYS LOST

Dozens of people, including law enforcement and emergency-rescue personnel, along with neighbors in Shoreline Park, searched for hours Monday for Kyle Hingle, left, and James Baker, who were later found in the canal. Below: Tension runs high for rescue workers in the AMR mobile emergency response center, who are going over neighborhood search grids in their efforts to find the boys.

It was one of those calls law enforcement officers never like to receive: Two small boys, one age 8, the other 4, were missing. Worse than that, some nine-plus hours later, Monday the two were found at the bottom of a canal, right behind the home of one of the victims.

The sheriff's department received a telephone call at 5:50 p.m. on Monday, reporting the two children missing, according the Sheriff Steve Garber.

The two youngsters had just met for a brief time before they were missing, Hancock County Interim Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt, said on Tuesday morning.

Hurt identified the two boys as Kyle Hingle, 4, 11015 Central Avenue, Shoreline Park; and James Baker, 8,

Hancock High ranked Level 5

Test scores put facility among state's elite

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

If things go as planned, as of Friday, Hancock High School will officially be ranked as a Level 5 facility — among the finest schools in the state.

"I just cannot heap enough accolades and praise on (school Principal Donnie) Gholston and his staff," Superintendent of Education Mike Ladner said yesterday. "They've worked very hard ... to make all these things happen."

The Level 5 designation is based on the school's "superior" performance in last year's Subject Area Testing Program (SATP), which tested students statewide in several areas, including English, biology, math and U.S. history. The designation is still unofficial, however, because the state Department of Education has embargoed the test scores until Friday.

District superintendents were allowed a "sneak peek" at the test results, and encouraged to share them with school principals in their districts.

Level 5 is the highest accreditation level possible in the state of Mississippi.

"It means your children have the opportunity to take part in some of the finest education programs that are available ...," Ladner

Former workers protest against Diamondhead Water & Sewer

Men say firings unfair, vow to continue picketing 'every day'

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

When four more employees were fired, all on the same morning on Monday, maintenance workers at the Diamondhead Water and Sewer District said they decided it was time to go public with the situation.

After all, they said, two employees had just been fired the previous Friday, and another on Aug. 1, all from the same department — leaving only two workers in that department on Monday, said ex-employee Joe Dobson.

The men, who had been with the company for times ranging from three-to-ten years, say they thought they had job security and a future at the plant. Most say they have families, mortgages and all the expenses that go along with a lifestyle that they thought they would be able to support with secure employment.

Now, all that has sudden-

NASA awards $3 million grant to Southern Miss Geospatial Center

THE SEA COAST ECHO

NASA has awarded a $3 million grant to build The University of Southern Mississippi's capability for applying remote sensing technologies to coastal zone research and management.

Southern Miss President Dr. Shelby Thames announced today that the two-year grant will fund continued development of the Gulf Coast Geospatial Center, a research program and data warehouse established last year with the support of the NASA Earth Science Applications Directorate at Stennis Space Center.

The geospatial center is located at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs.

"A major component of the center's mission is to train students and researchers in the use of geospatial technologies," Thames said. "This opportunity ensures that our students and faculty will remain on the cutting edge of this rapidly evolving field."

With physical facilities, hardware and personnel now in place, the center will focus on acquiring geospatial data primarily related to Mississippi's coastal region, starting up the research component of the program and expanding efforts to equip researchers, students, resource managers and planners with the tools available through geospatial sciences.

A $3 million NASA grant is making the computer power and expertise of the university's Gulf Coast Geospatial Center in Ocean Springs available to researchers and students such as Melissa Partyka. The University of Southern Mississippi technician is working on a Southern Miss project that is gathering baseline data for future efforts to measure the extent of the common reed's takeover of marsh areas in Mississippi's coastal counties. (Photo by Linda Skupien)

Principal investigators for the program are Dr. William E. Hawkins, professor of coastal sciences and executive director of the GCRL, and Dr. Cecil Burge, associate vice president of research and technology transfer.

Hawkins said scientific personnel at the geospatial center will continue development and teaching of Southern Miss courses in applied geospatial sciences this fall. The center and NASA are also organizing a conference that will bring to the coast the latest information on geographical information technologies.

"The Mississippi Gulf Coast Geospatial Conference is scheduled for Oct. 22-24 at the Palace Casino Resort in Biloxi," Hawkins said. "The conference will feature national leaders in the fields of geographical information systems (GIS) and remote sensing."

The event's workshops, panel discussions, training sessions and demonstrations are designed for professionals who work with environmental, natural resource and development issues of coastal Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

"For many researchers, the use of geospatial tools across the spectrum of scientific disciplines requires a major shift in perspective, but agency and university scientists in our region are recognizing the analytical power that remote sensing and GIS add to their work," Hawkins said.

"Our expertise and facilities are already being tapped by researchers and students. Scientists with the university and with state and federal agencies are working on an invasive species project. Southern Miss and Jackson State University graduate students are incorporating geospatial sciences into their thesis and dissertation research."

"That is what we are here for."

Diamondhead Fire Department gets new 'cascade' system

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Firefighters can breathe a little easier now at the Diamondhead Fire Department.

On July 26, the department installed a cascade system, which refills air pack bottles for self-contained breathing apparatus (SCBA).

The $21,680 system may also be used to fill diving bottles for diving rescue teams.

The packs, which are located on the fire trucks, are needed in hazardous atmospheres sometimes caused by car fires, house fires and chemical leaks.

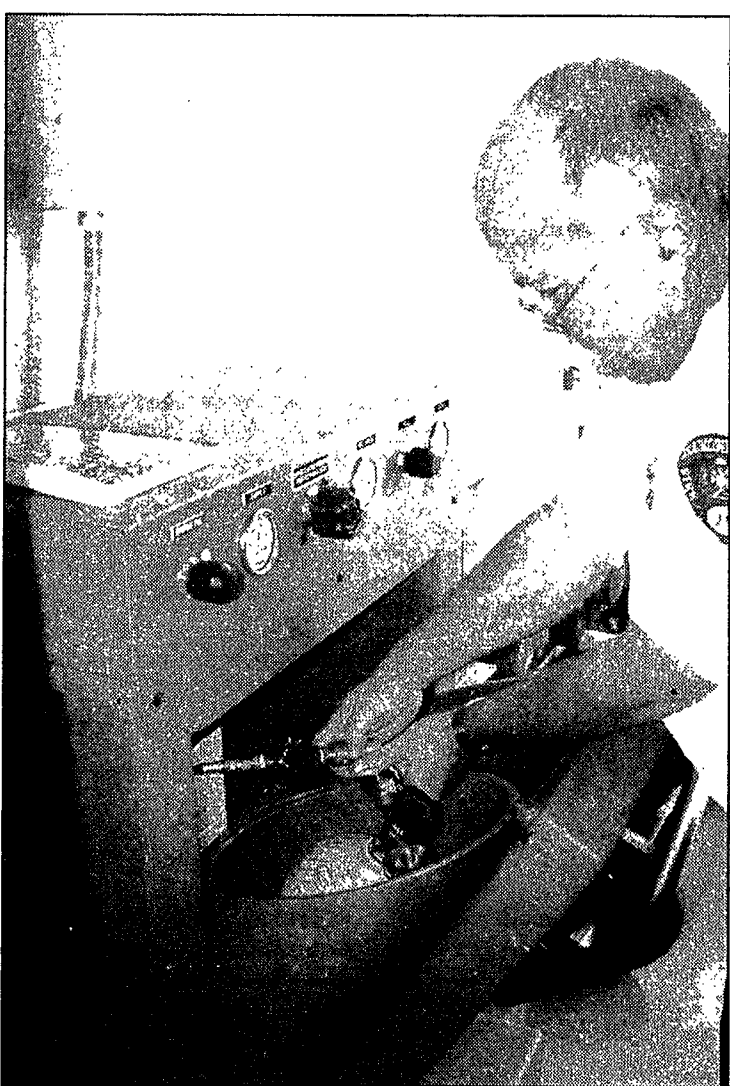

"We use the packs about 30 to 40 times on average every year," said Diamondhead Assistant Fire Chief Rodney Aguzin.

Aguzin said the Diamondhead department used Bay St. Louis' cascade system prior to receiving its own.

Now, the department will share its system with other departments in the county, which is a condition of the Federal Emergency Management Agency's Federal Fire for 2002.

The grant, which was awarded on Oct. 15, 2002, also required the department to make a 10 percent match of the funds to purchase additional equipment.

Aguzin said the department bought three radios for its trucks and a computer to report to the National Fire Incident Reporting System, a statistical database used as a by fire departments to report and maintain computerized records of fires and other incidents.

Rodney Aguzin, assistant chief for the Diamondhead Fire Department, fills air bottles for the department's self-contained breathing apparatus with the new "cascade" system.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

It sure has been hot for the past week, temperatures in the 90s and humidity around temperature readings.

Even with the scorching heat, crepe myrtles continue to bloom.

For a flowering shrub, crepe myrtles are among the hardiest.

Along our highways and roadways where it is as hot as it can get, they just keep sending out the flowers.

My favorite color is watermelon, but white, purple and pink look very good too.

Hopefully folks will continue to plant crepe myrtles. One of the good reasons is because there is very little maintenance necessary.

Some trimming each winter and a bit of fertilizer helps too. Very seldom do they need watering.

This afternoon at 4 p.m., everyone is invited to the Ribbon Cutting and Open House of the Waveland Public Library.

The facility has almost doubled in size and is a facility the citizens of Waveland and Hancock County can be very proud to have in our community.

As part of the Grand Opening Celebration, also from 5 to 7 p.m., the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Business After Hours will be held at the remodeled and expanded library.

Sponsors for the After Hours are City of Waveland, Exchange Club of Hancock County and The Library Foundation of Hancock County.

There will be good snacks, beverages and several door prizes at the After Hours. Do not forget to bring along a couple business cards.

In continuing with Grand Opening celebration, the Waveland Library will have a Family Day on Saturday, August 16 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

There will be a special Magic Show by Krackles D. Clown, free stickers, Louis St. Louis, Face Painting by Shoeshine B., Paper Hats, Scoops E. Clown and much more.

This will be a great time to bring the entire family.

Hancock County has a great library system and our facilities are second to none.

So, there is a need for a great turnout for the events on Thursday and Saturday, to show your appreciation to the Library's Staff, Trustees and Foundation members.

Lott's amazing "rehabilitation"

JACKSON--It's been a amazing thing to behold:

The "rehabilitation" of Trent Lott since his meltdown as Senate Majority leader last December.

His fall from grace came amid a cascade of apologies and mea culpas for his long-time insensitivity to the plight of African-Americans, of which his home state has more than any other.

His flurry of contrition peaked when he did an incredible Dec. 16 interview on Black Entertainment Television that found him backtracking on opposing affirmative action and other civil rights initiatives and "discovering" who Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. really was.

All of this, as you recall, began after Lott set off a national firestorm of criticism by his remarks at Sen. Strom Thurmond's 100th birthday party that the country would be better off if the South Carolinian were elected president on the segregationist "Dixiecrat" platform in 1948.

For a solid month Lott groveled--certainly unprecedented in Mississippi politics--to hold on to his powerful Senate leadership post. In the end it failed. Lott was summarily

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

dumped when the Senate GOP caucus met Jan. 6, with President Bush doing some of the pushing.

After Lott's sackcloth and ashes performance on BET, renouncing his anti-civil rights stances which have helped keep him unbeatable in Mississippi, you would think folks down here would be ready to send him packing. But no. For instance, six months later, he's back speaking to the Jackson Rotary Club (Rotarys were always his favorite audience) and seemingly getting as much acclaim as though he were still top gun in the Senate.

Is it because Mississippians have such short memories that even the loss of a huge power slot in Washington by this historically have-not Deep South state is forgotten in just a few months?

(Even GOP state chairman Jim Herring had conceded back in December that the loss of Lott as Senate Majority Leader "would be a great tragedy for Mississippi, the poorest state in the Union.")

Or is it that we knew all along ole Trent was just kidding when he vowed to expiate his racial sins of the past by becoming a Born Again advocate for causes which blacks value deeply?

For sure, we haven't seen Trent lead the charge for a clear cut affirmative action policy, or against hate crimes, or even to dig into the root causes of this state's entrenched poverty.

But Trent has been acting strange lately in other ways by coming down on the side of some Congressional issues where he would have never been found in the past.

As Kirk Victor recently observed in The National Journal: "Senator Lott is showing that F. Scott Fitzgerald got it wrong. There are second acts in American lives."

For one, as Victor points out, Lott is no longer "walking in lockstep" with his party, or Sen. Bill Frist of Tennessee who replaced him as Senate leader.

Two weeks ago, Lott criticized the majority leader's decision to take the energy bill off the floor in favor of the Medicare prescription drug legislation. Before that Lott was critical of the strategy to consume considerable Senate time debating the nomination of Miguel Estrada to the 4th district Court of Appeals.

Lott has broken with the Bush Administration on two major issues that came across the Congressional radar screen recently.

First, Lott came out against the Federal Communications Commission decree to allow big television and radio companies to expand ownership of outlets and dominate local broadcast markets. He joined several fellow senators in sponsoring a bill to roll back the FCC order.

Next, shortly before the Senate's Labor Day recess, Lott was one of the 10 Republicans who joined Democrats in opposing the administration-backed Medicare prescription legislation, a move that left the Senate measure in limbo while Congress is on vacation.

Mississippians need to closely watch the placement order of state GOP bigwigs near George W. Bush when the prez comes down on September 12 to boost Republican Haley Barbour's gubernatorial campaign.

Betting right now is that you won't find our Trent this time rubbing elbows with the president, as he would have been in times past. How far back in the pecking order of greeters Lott winds up could be quite revealing as to how he stands with the Bushies, or vice-versa.

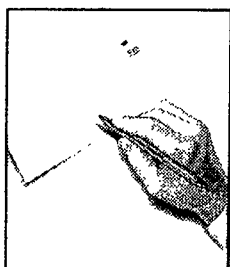

Sorta reminds one of the days of the Soviet Union under Josef Stalin. How the Soviet leaders alongside Stalin were lined up for the annual May Day military review in Red Square, when compared to the last May Day lineup, was always a sure tip-off to who was IN and who was OUT in that regime.

The Soviets were a tight-

Letters to the Editor

Gulfside project a 'special' case

To the Editor,

On August 25, at 6:00 P.M., at the Waveland Police Department on Highway 90, Gulfside Methodist Assembly intends to ask the Zoning Commission of the City of Waveland for a "special exception" to Waveland's Zoning Code in order to erect only the first phase of a multi-family, high density, government-subsidized HUD housing project in a single residential neighborhood. The area of Waveland in question, bounded by Sears Avenue, South Street and Brown Avenue, already experiences severe flooding and drainage problems, spillage of raw sewerage, lacks even basic city maintained drainage ditches and in my case, a city or county-laid street. There are no sidewalks. There is minimal street lighting. One of Gulfside Methodist Assembly's targeted streets, Brown Avenue, is in fact a mere one car lane.

But by requesting a "special exception" to Waveland's zoning covenants, Gulfside Methodist Assembly neatly circumvents the need for a zoning ordinance change and lays the foundation for the beginning of their "ten year long range plan" adopted by them in 2001.

There is a letter of endorsement for this HUD project on file with Waveland's Zoning Office signed by Rodrick Pullman, President of the Hancock Board of Supervisors. Lyonie "Jeep" Ladner, Sr., Rodrick "Rocky" Pullman, Lisa Coward, Steve Seymour and Jay Cuevas all concurred that Gulfside Methodist Assembly's planned HUD housing project is "commendable" and offer not only their support, but "community support" as well.

I have two questions for the Hancock Board of Supervisors: who foots the bill for the necessary new streets, water and sewerage lines, street lights, drainage ditches, etc., and how can they dare presume to speak for a neighborhood which they have so studiously neglected in the past?

FROM THE SENATE

By U.S. Senator
Trent Lott

A few years ago I resolved to spend much of my time focused on Mississippi's economic development. Each week my staff and I spend many hours looking for ways to bring Mississippians more jobs. With Mississippi losing old, lower paying jobs we can hardly afford to stop competing for new, good paying jobs.

This is why I have especially sought jobs coming from the rapidly emerging automotive industry taking shape primarily here in the Southeastern United States.

As I write this column, auto companies continue eyeing expansion in our state and our neighboring states. We must remain ready to aggressively engage them at the appropriate time. Mississippi beat our surrounding states in the competition for the very coveted Nissan plant, but in the wake of Nissan, we lost two more plants to competing states: Hyundai to Alabama, Toyota to Texas. Though we are 1-2, the series is far from over.

The odds still look good for Mississippi. Trends in the automotive industry are favoring a handful of Mid-South states, with Mississippi being right in the center. The auto industry is now global, devoid of national boundaries with a handful of international companies at the helm.

While GM and Ford remain the world's big two, they are generally taking jobs overseas, and eliminating domestic jobs. Meanwhile, companies like Nissan, Honda, DaimlerChrysler, Hyundai, Toyota and others are rapidly expanding their market share and job base right here in America, particularly in the Southern states.

I've met with some of their leaders, and I've come to know a number of them personally. Yes, these companies come South because of big tax incentives. However, perhaps the biggest and most often overlooked reason they come here is because America is now their largest, most profitable, most influential and, therefore, most important market - a fact that will not change anytime soon. The company names may be Korean, Japanese or German, but Americans are now designing, engineering and building these companies' products right here in America, to serve this market. With billions already invested in Alabama, Tennessee, Texas and Kentucky, their presence here - particularly in the South - is only going to grow in the near future. They are coming for the long-term.

Some are saying our state will go broke competing for these large automotive plants, but what is the alternative? Those who contend we spent too much on tax incentive packages for Nissan and that we cannot afford to win another auto plant seem oblivious to the auto industry's trends, and the advantages that rural, right-to-work states like Mississippi have in this arena.

More alarmingly, the critics are too far removed from out-of-work Mississippians. Everywhere I go around this state folks want to talk about jobs. They want to know what kind of future our state's private and public leaders are sculpting for Mississippi today. They want to know if their children will have a chance to raise a family in Mississippi or will they be forced to move elsewhere? Most Mississippians would rather their tax money be invested in jobs over dead-end social programs. They don't care about political jockeying among state, local and federal officials either, or about turf battles along county, city or regional jurisdictional lines.

In some cases, Mississippi may do well to partner with a neighboring state in competing for major economic development projects, such as we have agreed to do with Alabama. Yet, at the same time we must always keep a competitive eye. Delco, International Paper, Fruit of the Loom, Burlington Industries are companies that have left communities in Mississippi, putting a lot of folks out of work. We owe it to ourselves and to future Mississippians to build a new economy with new business partners. There are more automotive jobs coming South. Let's make sure they come to Mississippi.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn: Press Office)

Gaits board elects officers

The board of directors for Gaits to Success, Inc., South Mississippi's sole provider of therapeutic horseback riding for handicapped youngsters, has re-elected Chuck Benvenuti as president for the coming year.

Other officers elected at a board meeting earlier this month were Todd Torgeson, vice president; Christie Allen, secretary; and new board member Terri Cuevas, treasurer. Other board members are Mary Ann Strickland and Barbara Kaiser.

Gaits operates out of a stable in Kiln. The nonprofit organization is a member of the North American Riding for the Handicapped Association. Both the American Occupational Therapy Association and the American Physical Therapy Association recognize the benefits of therapeutic horseback riding.

Gaits to Success welcomes donations of vehicles, boats, and cash. It also benefits from grocery store receipts from Choice Supermarkets. For details about donations, call 467-1402.

lipped bunch, not too unlike the ones now running the show in Washington.

There's talk beginning down here that a defrocked Trent Lott is not long for the job of junior senator from Mississippi, and if Haley Barbour is elected governor, Lott will resign so that Barbour can appoint 3rd District Rep. Chip Pickering to replace him.

Pickering has been pretty much Lott's protégé for a long time. In 1990 the Chipper got his first job in the Department of Agriculture during Bush the Elder's administration at Trent's behest. And when, for some unknown reason, Pickering was let go in 1991, Lott put him on his Senate staff.

It was believed that Trent was grooming Pickering to run for Sonny Montgomery's 3rd District seat before Sonny stepped down in 1996. Again, with Trent's help, Pickering ran and won the House seat.

As they say, the rest is history: With help from federal courts and failure of a Democrat-controlled state Legislature to redraw district lines after the state lost one of its Congressional seats in 2002, Pickering wound up with a favorable new district to dispatch incumbent Democratic Rep. Ronnie Shows.

Trent's present Senate term ends in 2006. But if he should he resign with more than a year left, a successor could only serve 90 days before facing a special election to keep the seat.

So, a lot of high stakes politics seem down the road the next couple years and Trent will be holding some high cards.

Maybe he's been taken down a notch, but the Lott era ain't over yet.

Improvements on track for Hancock Water-Sewer District

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Plans continue to go forward on two projects for the Hancock County Water and Sewer District. Both will improve water service for district customers, officials say.

At a special meeting, on September 2, bids will be opened for proposals to drill a test well at the 300 to 500 ft. depth level.

The special meeting will allow the board time to look over bids and be ready to approve one by the first official board meeting on the 12th, said director Eddie Renz.

District officials hope that this level will produce the crystal clear water that Phase 1 customers are demanding.

The well used to supply Phase 1 water customers now, produces a brownish colored water that many people have said they find unacceptable. Repeated testing has shown that the water is safe to drink, just not crystal clear.

A well at the 300 to 500 foot level would not be capable of producing water at an equal rate per minute as a deeper well, most private wells in the area are at that level, but officials say that should not present a problem with water pressure.

Officials decided to drill at the more shallow level because they say that water found at deeper levels would likely have the same brown color as the present source.

Meanwhile engineers are going forward with preparing plans for a brand new water system in the Jordan River Estates neighborhood. The system will replace old small pipes with new six to eight inch pipes and improve water pressure.

The new system will be connected to Phase 1 water.

Preliminary plans show that the new pipes will run along the north side of the four main streets in the area, so people living on that side of the neighborhood's dead end streets may suffer a little more inconvenience during construction.

When digging begins it is likely that dirt will need to be hauled immediately from the area, engineers said, as there is almost no right of way in which to store excess dirt. Engineers are also looking at the possibility of running pipes down each road, rather than digging up yards and driveways.

In other business:

- The board voted allow board attorney J. P. Compretta to draft a letter to be sent to Bay St. Louis expressing concern and interest in the city's annexation proceedings.
- Auditor Gerald Rigby presented the board with a draft of this years audit, which the board approved. Rigby said the audit contained no findings or recommendations.

- The board voted not to approve a contract between Southern Regional Wastewater Management District and Digital Engineering.

The action will have little impact, however as, only two thirds Southern Regional's customers have to approve contracts at the district. Pearlinton, Kiln, Waveland and Bay St. Louis have already approved going forward with the contract.

Board members gave two reasons for not lending their approval. The contract contained a clause, Compretta said, which would allow Digital to cancel their contract with the district if another larger job came up and a clause which stated that Digital would not list Southern Regional on their required insurance.

Perniciaro, former attendance officer, dies at Jackson

ECHO STAFF REPORT

Frank Perniciaro, former attendance officer for both the Hancock County and Bay St. Louis-Waveland school districts, died Friday at Jackson.

Perniciaro, 43, had been sentenced in April to one year in prison and two years probation after pleading guilty to charges of possession of child pornography.

He was serving the time in prison at the time of his death last week. The Mississippi Department of Corrections has still not released an official statement, but reports indicate he apparently died of natural causes.

Perniciaro resigned his position as attendance officer in July 2001, after it was revealed that he was being investigated by the state attorney general's cybercrime unit for allegedly having explicit sexual photographs of children stored in the computer at his office at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore.

He had been appointed to the position in 1998 by the superintendent of the state education department.

As the attendance officer, Perniciaro was responsible for making sure school-age children in both the Hancock and Bay-Waveland school districts attended class.

Boys -- Kyle and James

308 Sandy St., Apt. B., Waveland.

James was the son of Edwina and Jonathan Baker. Kyle was the son of Sandy DiMarco and the grandson of Linda DiMarco. Linda DiMarco had moved in with her daughter, to help take care of the four-year-old and his sister as the mother had to work, Hurt said.

"Officers spoke to the father of Baker and grandmother of Hingle," Hurt said. "An all out effort proceeded to find the boys.

"The two boys had just met, as Jonathan Baker had visited Linda DiMarco, whom he worked with, to see if he could get her vehicle started. The boys asked if they could go swimming and were told no," Hurt said.

"Apparently Kyle had changed his clothing and put on a bathing suit and they slipped out of the house. Jonathan Baker and Linda Dimarco were in and out of the house as they were working on the vehicle and the grandmother in checking in the house on the two missed them and summoned police," Hurt said.

"At 2:40 a.m. divers pulled the bodies of the two youngsters from the waters of the canal some two to four feet from a pier behind the residence. Divers reported the water was from four to 12 feet deep in the canal."

"I guess I'm still in shock," Jonathan Baker said yesterday, recalling the frantic search and the enormity of the tragedy he and his family now face.

Baker said when the adults first realized the boys weren't playing in the back yard, "I said 'James,' and I didn't get an answer, and I knocked on the door, hoping that he was inside.

"We all went out and hollered and looked. After about five minutes of hollering, we called the (sheriff's office). ... We looked in that water and it did not seem disturbed at all. That's why we didn't think they were in there. James, he never swims without an adult - that's why I can't figure out why they got in there. ... James was a happy little kid. He was playful - he'd bring happiness to you."

Hancock County Coroner Norma Stiglet confirmed yesterday that the official cause of death was drowning.

The first officers on the scene were Deputy Tim Airhart at 6:02 p.m. and Lt. Ron Borja at 6:06 p.m.

Garber said dozens turned out to help find the boys, including a number of sheriff's officers; Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell and several Waveland off-duty officers; volunteers from the East Hancock, West Hancock, Bayside and Clermont Harbor fire departments; the Bay St. Louis and Waveland fire departments; Harrison County's Helicopter; Department of Marine Resources officers; DMR's Dive Team and Hancock County Sheriff's Dive Team; Pat Sullivan and the Gulf Coast Search and Rescue Dogs; and a great number of neighbors.

A memorial fund has been set up for the families at the GoCo station on Hwy. 603 and at GoCo's all across the Coast; and at C&J Quick Stop in Pass Christian.

A visitation will be held for Kyle today, 10-11 a.m., at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis. Funeral services will be held for James on Friday.

Protest -- Diamondhead

ly changed, and the men say they don't know why and want an answer. On Monday, and they say, everyday, until justice is served, they say, they and their friends and families will be picketing in front of the main entrance to the Diamondhead subdivision.

A few men who said they were currently employed by the district also joined in the protest.

"I still have a job or at least I guess I will until the paper comes out," said one man. "I am here to fight for their rights, which were violated, they have been harassed and in one instance not paid for time worked."

The men say that Mike Collard "was brought in from Illinois" as general manager to replace Warren Swanson, who they charge was forced into early retirement. They say the new manager was brought in for one specific purpose, "to clean house," which apparently did nothing to raise employee morale.

Meanwhile, no one at the plant is commenting. Collard did not return phone calls left at the two plant numbers. A message left on an answering machine at the home of chairman of the board of commissioners for the plant Jack Cleveland was also not returned. Collard was hired by the board of commissioners.

"All our termination papers say 'at will,'" said

Dobson, referring to the company's right to fire at will. No official reason was given for any of the firings, he said.

Doug Necaise, who recently suffered work related back injuries, said he asked for a back brace for a year and is now on worker's compensation.

Curt Danley, a ten-year veteran with the company said the only thing he had complained about was a change in the work hours from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. to an 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. schedule, because the later hours were in the hottest part of the day.

On Monday the men carried homemade signs declaring "We want respect in the workplace," "Support the workers of Diamondhead Water and Sewer District" and "Honk Your Horn in support". A lot of horns honked. The AFL-CIO and the IBW 733 unions also rallied in support.

But whether any of this will get the jobless men what they want remains to be seen.

"All we want is to have our jobs back and to be treated with respect," said Dobson.

Hope Haven seeks city, county help with budget requests

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Hope Haven Board of Directors has set their budget for the coming year and issued their request to local municipalities for support.

The projected cash budget for 2004 has been set at $335,000. This figure does not include "inkind" expenses such as the value of the office space provided by the County or the water and sewage services provided by the City of Waveland.

"We had a serious drop in general contributions this spring," Stated Margie Toups, Board President. "Thanks to the excellent coverage on our situation provided by 'The Sea Coast Echo' and other media, we are operating in the black again as of July."

"In addition to the decline in donations, we have also experienced a significant increase in our operating expenses. Our insurance costs used to run about $10,000 per year and in the last three years it has increased to almost $20,000 per year. We have a much larger shelter now and we are caring for more children and it just costs more to run. One of the other major increases was in our payroll. We had to increase our starting pay to $6.00 per hour and offer some limited benefits just to keep the shelter manned. By State law we must have two caregivers in the shelter 24 hours per day and our payroll expenses are about 60% of the total costs to run the shelter. We are still very proud that Hope Haven's operating budget is $100,000 less than other shelters of comparable size in the State and that our admin/fundraising costs remain less than 5% of our budget. Another strong point is that our Director serves as the director of the non profit, the Shelter Manager and the Social Worker ... which in most shelters is done by three different people. He works very long hours and is on call 24 hours per day seven day per week. Some how, a rumor started that he earned $65,000 per year and even $180,000 per year and I would like to make it public knowledge that he earned $26,000 per year until 1999. This year we raised his pay to $32,000 per year and he contributes several thousand dollars of that back to Hope Haven for treats for the kids or to purchase things that he does not feel that donated public money should be used for, such as the cost of the table at the recent Chamber of Commerce Citizens of the Year Award or for plaques thanking people and organizations for their support. ~

Hope Haven has requested the following amounts from local municipalities for the new budget year:

Hancock County: Current support $40,000 per year. Amount requested $45,000 (13% of total budget) City of Waveland: Current support $5,000 per year. Amount requested $6,000 (02% of total budget) City of Bay St. Louis: current support, Zero. Amount requested $2,000 (1/2 of one per cent of total budget) Total requested: $53,000 (15% of the total annual budget) The remaining support for Hope Haven comes from a wide variety of businesses, Foundations, churches, State board payments, United Way and CFC drives, local fundraisers and events and the many private citizens who support the Hope Haven mission.

23 Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness, for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

In Loving Memory on Your Birthday

James W. Stewart Sr.
August 15, 1942 - July 19, 2003

Dad,
 Although it has only been a few weeks that you were sent on your journey to heaven, the days have come and gone so fast. Your smile and caring ways, I think of each and every day. To hold back the tears is hard. Your battles have ended and your journey has just begun. I know you are at peace now, just remember you will always be thought of each and every day. I pray to meet you there someday.

Love Ya and Sadly Miss you dearly,
 Your Daughter

Curtis "Chopper" Holman

Sept. 24, 1949 - Aug. 14, 1979

Your Mother missed you so much,
 But she could not feel your touch.
 She cried for years with you gone.
 She could not stop the tears,
 Now you are together, in the Lord's house forever.

"CUZ"

Avenge not yourselves,
 But rather give place unto wrath:
 For it is written Vengeance is mine;
 I will repay, saith the Lord.

Our beautiful babies, another year has come and gone and once again we sit empty and lost remembering the laughter and tender moments we shared as a family. Words can't even describe what you gave to us, and how much it meant to have you as our children. God blessed us with you. You were our most precious part of life. Your lives were cut short, but your presence is still felt among us. We will love and miss you forever. You will always live within us. We love you sweet Ceci, Sean and Joe. Applications for Community Heritage Preservation Grants available

Applications are now available through the Mississippi Department of Archives and History (MDAH) for grants of up to $500,000 that may be used to pay the cost of preservation and restoration of many historic buildings statewide. The 2003 Legislature authorized the issuance of $3.78 million in bonds for the third round of the Community Heritage Preservation Grant Program, administered by MDAH. Applications will be accepted until 5 p.m. on October 10.

The program provides funds to help preserve, restore, develop, and interpret historic courthouses and schools. In Certified Local Government communities grant funds may also be used for projects involving historic buildings other than courthouses or schools. All buildings must have been designated Mississippi Landmarks prior to application to be eligible for the grants.

The grant awards will be paid to the grantee on a reimbursable basis upon the successful completion of the entire project or at the time of the completion of pre-established phases of the project. Applicants receiving grant awards should be prepared to cover all project costs before receiving reimbursements. A cash match of at least 20 percent must be provided.

Only county or municipal governments, school districts, and nonprofit organizations granted Section 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service may submit applications. Those applications shall be in accordance with the provisions of grant procedures, criteria, and standards developed and published by MDAH. After evaluation by department staff, all complete applications will be presented to the MDAH Board of Trustees at its meeting on December 5. In reviewing and evaluating the grants, the board will attempt to balance the geographical distribution of grant awards. Applicants will receive official notification of the board's decision by December 19.

The Mississippi communities that have gone through the National Park Service's procedures to obtain Certified Local Government status are Aberdeen, Biloxi, Canton, Carrollton, Centerville, Claiborne County, Cleveland, Columbia, Columbus, Corinth, Friars Point, Greenwood, Hattiesburg, Hernando, Holly Springs, Jackson, Laurel, Leland, Lexington, Meridian, Mound Bayou, Natchez, Ocean Springs, Oxford, Pascagoula, Port Gibson, Tunica, Vicksburg, and Woodville.

Parents ask Dr. Ruth McPhearson, psychologist—

"What's going on with my child who seems bright but can't manage at school?"

Poor schoolwork could reflect problems in other areas of a child's life including relationships with friends and family. It might also be the result of a learning disability. Especially if your child underperforms in one subject compared to others, gets angry or easily frustrated with homework, says "I feel dumb I can't keep up." Other clues could include—if your child is the class clown, seems unhappy to go to school, complains of tummy aches and headaches on Sunday night, is symptom-free on weekends. Talk to your child's teacher first, then if concerns continue, testing can help in the early identification of learning disabilities. Results will direct you to resources to help your child develop a lifelong skill of enjoying learning if you would like us to send you more information about learning disabilities, call us now or anytime. There's always a counselor standing by to talk with you.

Shrimpers reminded new TED rules effective August 21

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources would like to remind Mississippi shrimpers that the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) has amended Turtle Excluder Device (TED) regulations to enhance the effectiveness of TEDs in reducing sea turtle deaths that result from trawling in the southeastern United States. The modifications, which apply throughout the Atlantic Ocean and Gulf of Mexico, apply to shrimp fishermen that use bottom trawl gear in state and federal waters. The new regulations were announced in February 2003 and take effect on April 15, 2003 in the Atlantic and Aug. 21, 2003 in the Gulf of Mexico.

The new rules, which include an increase in the size of the escape opening, will help all sea turtles escape from shrimp trawls although the new law was initiated to allow for the escape of larger species such as leatherback, loggerhead and green turtles. The rule amends regulations governing the types of TEDs allowed and certain structural aspects of TEDs. The changes include:

- Requiring the use of either the recently approved double cover flap TED or a TED with an opening of at least 71-inch straight-line stretched mesh measurement in all offshore waters and the inshore and offshore waters of Georgia and South Carolina;

- Requiring the use of TEDs with a 44-inch straight-line stretched mesh opening in all inshore waters, except those of Georgia and South Carolina;

- Requiring that hooped hard TEDs can only be used in inshore waters, and not in Georgia and South Carolina. Those TEDs must have a minimum inside horizontal width of 35 inches and an inside vertical height of 30 inches on the front hoop and a clearance of between the bars and the front hoop of 20 inches;

- Requiring the use of grids with minimum outside measurements of 32 inches by 32 inches in all waters;

- Disallowing the use of the Jones TED;

- Requiring the use of a brace bar on weedless TEDs;

- Requiring accelerator funnels to have a 44-inch horizontal opening on the 44 inch TED and a 71-inch opening on the 71 inch and double over flap TEDs;

Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

BUSINESS NEWS

United Way Pacesetter campaign underway

The United Way of South Mississippi Pacesetter campaign is well underway. Sixteen area companies and twenty-six agencies have signed on to start the 2003 United Way community campaign as a Pacesetter company. These are companies and organizations that agree to run an early campaign to "set the pace" for the general campaign, which kicks off on September 8th.

Pacesetters will run their campaigns during the month of August and the results will be announced at the kick-off event at Gulfport Grand Casino Event Center.

Building momentum in this month prior to the official start of the campaign is critical. "Our hope is that we will have a successful pacesetter campaign this year that will be an example to be emulated," states Ron Barnes of Coast Electric Power Association and chair of the Pacesetter Division. "The exciting thing about our 2003 pacesetter campaign lies in its diversity. Participation includes large companies with over 1000 employees to small firms with only 5 employees, and reaches across all three counties served by the United Way of South Mississippi. From local media outlets to banks, CPA firms to retail chains, this year's pacesetter campaign is a mirror of our South Mississippi community. These leading companies and agencies are very important to United Way to help get the community motivated."

The following companies will be running as Pacesetters this year: AG Edwards, Arizona Chemical, Bay Motor Winding, Bryant Clark Dukes Blakeslee Ramsay & Hammond PLLC, Charles Benvenuti CPA, DuPont, Gulf Coast Medical Center, Hancock Bank, JC Penney, Knesal Engineering, McRae's, Picayune Item, The Sun Herald, Treutel Insurance, Whitney Bank and WLOX.

The following United Way participating agencies will also run as Pacesetters: Harrison Co. 4-H Club, American Red Cross, Area Agency on Aging, Boy Scouts, Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast, Catholic Social Services, Center For the Prevention of Child Abuse, Child Abuse Ed. Council, de l'Epee Deaf Center, Girl Scouts, Gulf Coast Family Counseling Agency, Gulf Coast Mental Health Ctr., Gulf Coast Society for Retarded Citizens, Gulf Coast Women's Ctr. for Non Violence, Hancock Co. Human Resource Agency, Helpline, Hope Haven, Meals on Wheels, Mental Health Association of MS, P.R.I.D.E., R.S.V.P. Hancock Co., R.S.V.P. Harrison Co., Salvation Army, South MS AIDS Task Force, and YMCA.

"It is our goal that our pacesetters set the mark for a successful 2003 for United Way of South Mississippi," says Barnes. We thank each and every company that has agreed to take on this challenge; you are truly helping to make a difference in the things that matter in our community.

The Sixth Annual Business & Industry Expo will be held on Thursday, August 21 at the Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Road in Bay St. Louis on Thursday, August 21 from 4pm - 7pm. Linda Graffeo, Chairman of the Member Services Committee of the Hancock Chamber said that this year the Committee has space for up to 95 exhibitors. Last year, close to 1,000 consumers visited the show to view businesses and services available in the Hancock County area. Pette Leech was announced the winner of the $1,000 cash prize drawing open to all people who visited the exhibit booths. Graffeo said the committee is offering another $1,000 cash prize for the 2003 Expo.

In order to exhibit, you must be a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. The fee to participate is $175 for 8 foot booths and $200 for ten foot booths. Tickets to attend the Expo are $3 per person and can be purchased in advance through the Hancock Chamber.

Graffeo said this year, the Committee is adding a new opportunity for exhibitors. "We have found that many members would also like to network one on one with the exhibitors. That is why we established a business networking opportunity for exhibitors only on Wednesday, August 20, she said. Sponsorships are also available for the Expo and the Exhibitors Only reception. Another added benefit for exhibitors is listings they will receive in the Expo Special Supplement produced and distributed by the Sea Coast Echo prior to the Show. The Expo will also be promoted to consumers through The Sun Herald, an Expo sponsor.

Graffeo encourages interested Chamber members to reserve space and sponsorships early. "Already," she said, "we are 50% sold out." She also invites businesses that have been considering joining the Chamber, to make the Expo that marketing reason to join now. To register and inquire about membership and Expo opportunities, please contact the Hancock Chamber at 467-9048. Or, stop by the Chamber at 412 Highway 90, Suite 6 in Bay St. Louis.

Casino Magic signs comedian Don Rickles to two year contract

Don Rickles

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Don Rickles, a mainstay in gambling resorts for over four decades, continues his amazing success story as a headliner with a new two year deal at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. His contract calls for a minimum of two engagements per year through the end of 2005.

"We are delighted to have retained an entertainer of Don Rickles caliber and stature in the industry," said John Jagunich, President, COO & General Manager of Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. "We look forward to a successful run with Don, while continuing to be a premier source for quality entertainment on the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

Rickles notes, "Thanks to Casino Magic for this great contract. I'm now able to quit working as a riverboat gambler."

Rickles originally attracted attention by making hilarious observations about those in his audiences, including some of the biggest names in show business. As his fame grew, it became a badge of honor to be personally roasted by Rickles. Many of his most prominent targets (including Frank Sinatra, Johnny Carson and Dean Martin) ultimately became significant supporters and benefactors. Rickles' popularity stems from a rapier-quick wit mixed with a sensitivity that enables him to know the exact limits of his comedic approach. His show is based on his audiences' willingness to laugh at themselves.

Rickles' emergence as a comedy icon led to offers from leading nightclubs throughout the country, as well as from television and films. A graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, he was well prepared to take advantage of opportunities to play serious and comedic acting roles.

His career has been regularly highlighted by acclaimed performances on top-rated network TV shows and major motion pictures. Some of his recent film credits include "Casino" and "Toy Story 2."

Rickles' longevity as a showroom headliner is virtually unmatched by any other comedian in the business. "Mr. Warmth's" style has proven to cross all generational lines.

Rickles' first engagement under the new contract with Casino Magic scheduled for this weekend, August 15 - 16.

COMING (BACK) TO AMERICA

Hancock woman readjusts to life outside of Liberia

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

When United Methodist Church General Board of Global Ministries missionary Wilma Dunbar left Liberia's capitol city of Monrovia and arrived in Gbanga (Gbarnga), "I knew I had finally left America," she said. The civil war began a year and a half after her arrival in Liberia in April of 1988. She stayed until May of 2000 and now serves as business manager of Gulfside Assembly.

The capitol city, though different of course, still had many of the amenities that we are used to, running water, electricity. Gbanga, on the other hand was a world apart.

Located about 120 miles from the capitol, Gbanga had no electricity or the conveniences that come with it. In good times running water was available, Dunbar said, through the use of a generator.

But these were not good times and the main generator was broken. A backup generator would come on and pump water about every three days when anyone could afford the gasoline that it took to run it.

Gbanga was the third largest town in Liberia, Dunbar said, but could not be considered a city. She was there officially to serve as secretary for the Gbanga School of Theology and as a financial representative and liaison between the United Methodist Church here and in Liberia, but circumstances and her own interests led her to do much more.

Dunbar trained and set up training for administration and teachers, oversaw maintenance operations for the seminary and cafeteria and often ended up giving lectures and teaching herself.

Living was a day to day arrangement.

"All the cooking was done outside on coal pots," said Dunbar. "There were no refrigerators ... so everything had to be purchased

Wilma Dunbar in traditional Liberian dress. Women generally tie their hair and wear the Lappa, or head piece. Both men and women wear a loose fitting gown and women may wear a skirt or pants underneath. Men wear hats. Dunbar served as a missionary in Liberia for about 12 years.

When a visitor arrives they are honored by a ceremony in which they are expected to eat hot peppers (very very hot peppers, Dunbar said) on Kola nuts. "It would be considered rude if you did not participate," she said.

fresh each day for three meals."

The weather was tropical and very hot, with about 70 degrees Fahrenheit being the coldest she saw, in December or January. There were many obstacles to overcome, but working with the people is what Dunbar says she loved the most.

And most of all she loved working with the women, many of who were illiterate, when they arrived with their husbands at the seminary. Protocol dictated that women be trained right along with their husbands and a prime goal of the ministries was to bridge the gap in literacy between men and women.

The end result was that the wives held almost as much prestige as their husbands, back in their own villages where they often returned, or in new settings should their ministry be elsewhere. They taught bible classes and helped with the running of the ministry.

"Teaching women to read and write was a powerful thing," said Dunbar.

Though reading and writing were the loftier goals, the ministry also taught more practical skills in a place where many children are lost to fevers and illnesses caused by dirty drinking water. Women were taught how to sterilize water by boiling it and straining it through a cloth. They also learned agriculture, food preservation without refrigeration, agriculture, canning and more.

Techniques of non-traditional medicine was another skill they carried home to places where there were no doctors.

Daily life in Gbanga and indeed in many of the areas where Dunbar lived was a community affair, she said. Dunbar learned even more about local culture when she married a native of Gbanga, Richard Dunbar.

A machinist by trade, he owned a small contracting business and a sawmill and came from a large local family, which Dunbar inherited as her own. She was introduced to her husband after friends traded that meeting for a pig for their holiday dinner table. Like most people Richard did a little farming on the side.

Richard had seen Wilma and had tried in vain to arrange a meeting with her, so when some of her friends approached him saying they needed a pig for their holiday dinner, he arranged the trade for a guaranteed meeting with Wilma. The meeting took place at church.

"Church was an all day affair," she said. "It was not unusual for people to come at 9 a.m. and stay till 3 p.m. and with special activities it could be 6 p.m."

The couple were married in Wilma's hometown in Texas and lived happily until illness took Richard's

August 5, 1993 - (Photo) University of Southern Mississippi Hancock County Alumni President Mike Schaefer, said income generated by the sale of a new automobile tag bearing the USM logo will be utilized to bolster funding for student scholarships. Hancock County Tax Collector Eddie Murtagh, noted special tags showing support for each of the state's eight public universities are now available at an extra cost of $50. Schaefer said the universities will receive $32.50 for each tag sold bearing their respective logos.

-The Bay St. Louis City Council on Tuesday night gave its approval to a solid waste management agreement that will see Waveland, Bay St. Louis and Hancock County jointly tackle the waste disposal problem here. However, the agreement left room for each governmental unit to take steps independently that would help them save money on disposing of solid waste.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

August 4, 1983 - The City of Waveland is seeking a federal grant providing $300,000 for a two-year jobs program to employ some 25 people and improve drainage. A public notice, which appears in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo, states the city is 'considering' applying for a Small Cities Community Jobs Bill Block Grant of $400,000 through the Governor's office of Federal-State Programs, Department of Community development.

-Hancock County's unemployment rate for the second time this year has jumped to an all-time high based on Mississippi Unemployment Service records. The county's current jobless rate recorded for June is 16.3%, the record list. State and national rates of 13.6% and 10.2%, respectively for the same month are much lower than Hancock County's jobless figure.

FORTY YEARS AGO

August 8, 1963 - A three-member mosquito control commission was appointed Monday the Board of Supervisors to work in conjunction with neighboring county, state and federal agencies toward obliteration of the pest in these parts. Named were Al Landers of Pearlington, Leon Davis of Beat 2 and Leo Seal, Jr. of Bay St. Louis. Motion was by H.G. Dean, Beat 1 Supervisor, seconded by I.M. Frierson of Beat 2.

-Both Bay St. Louis banks are prospects for a branch bank sought to serve NASA's. Corps of Engineers and contractor personnel during the construction period at Mississippi Test Operations. Merchants Bank officials said they definitely planned to bid for the location at MTO while those at Hancock Bank thought it likely that bank would seek the location.

life. Though they were visiting the States at the time he became ill, he chose to return to Liberia when the seriousness of his illness became apparent and is buried beside family there.

Liberia is a country with 16 tribal languages, with English as the official language. Polygamy is legal, though not promoted by the church.

"If a family joined the church and there were multiple wives, then they were allowed to join," said Dunbar. However, the man could not take anymore wives after joining the church or replace any wives that may die."

Marriage itself was a community affair. Dunbar's husband took her, as would any man contemplating marriage, for approval to his quarter, or neighborhood, in his village, where his family lived and where most people would be from the same tribe, she said.

If a husband and wife were having a problem, it would not just be their problem, Dunbar said, it would be the problem of the whole quarter, or village.

A man might send his wife home to her mother for counseling or advise, or he might send for your mother to come to your home, she said.

Should all else fail, a counsel of elders would rule on the dispute and you would be expected to do as they said. Other times a village meeting could be called to discuss the problem.

The civil war has devastated the country of beautiful greenery, endless forests and fruit trees, said Dunbar, leaving people's lives in shambles. A culture with a tradition of sharing, child-care, stories, cooking, and work, largely lived outside (you only go inside to sleep, Dunbar said), has been destroyed by the war.

People who lived with little, compared to what we have here, are now living with even less. Many times her group had to flee to neighboring Cote D' Ivore (Ivory Coast) for safety.

"I think of the people I know personally who have died ... they had so much to give," said Dunbar. "Many have died as a result of the fighting, but many more have died from a lack of food, medical care and stress. Many of the people look to the United States for help and don't understand why in all these years that we have done nothing to try to stop the situation."

bridge will take a trip over the new bridge. As wrecking work began on the creaky old structure, two unique plans were established for the destruction. One steals a page from the construction book of the new bridge. Wrecking will start at the draw, and go east first, and then west. Big cranes will pull up the old bridge, load it onto barges and this will be taken to the Merritt, Chapman and Scott yards to Henderson Point. There it will be dismantled. But all of the work cannot be done this way. And that's how the old bridge gets a trip over the new bridge. Some of the old bridge will be dismantled at the Bay St. Louis side, put on trucks, carted over the new bridge to the Henderson Point yards.

-Better than a fish a minute was the rate two local sportsmen pulled in the speckled trout Thursday and both say it was not fish tale. Bill Gaudet and J.C. Baxter of Waveland went out early to Half Moon. The came back almost as early. "We got 165 of the speckles," Gaudet said. "Their weight was 200 pounds." The two returned from their trip before 9 a.m. felling satisfied -- and a little bit tired. They said they used live bait all the time. "We caught them better than a fish a minute. I almost got tired of pulling them in," Gaudet continued.

SIXTY YEAR AGO

August 6, 1943 - City Echoes - Bay St. Louis has news of the two sons of Mrs. Annette Gillespie. James O. Gillespie is a technical sergeant in the Army Air Forces stationed in England and on June 1 was awarded the Air Medal. John C. Gillespie, lieutenant (j.g.) is on a Liberty Ship in the Atlantic war zone. He was awarded ribbons for his service at Pearl Harbor. He is in the Maritime Service. Spotlight On Dining 2003

Attention Restaurant Owners...

Advertising is an investment in the success of your restaurant. Every restaurant has competition, either within the town, or nearby city. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and dine elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their dining habits from one restaurant to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your restaurant.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your restaurant. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know what specials you are offering, perhaps what entertainment you may have and the character of your restaurant.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8:30 am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 S. 1st Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community.

Fishing is a "Shore Thing" in the Louisiana marsh

BY RANDY PONDER,
SEA COAST ECHO
PUBLISHER

I love to fish and rarely pass up an opportunity to wet-a-line. So when Captain Mike Thompson, owner of Shore Thing Charters offered a media trip to the Sea Coast Echo, my only question was, when?

News editor Geoff Belcher and production director Mike Benson were my partners in fun. The three of us rendezvoused at the Islander Marina at Bayou Caddy before daylight to board Captain Mike's 23 foot center console Parker. The Parker is a great fishing boat. It is wider than most and offers a smooth, stable, spray free ride.

The stars were visible overhead and a light breeze was out of the south. The tide range was expected to be about two and a half feet. The only potential problem was a little bit of lightning to the southeast, directly towards the Chandeleur Islands, our intended destination. The good news was that we could hear no thunder, meaning the storm was far away.

The captain and crew decided to play it safe and fish the Louisiana marsh instead of Chandeleur. Captain Mike Thompson is a pleasant fellow, easy to get along with. He knows where the fish are and is very attuned to his customers abilities. Sort of looks like a surfer type. Probably hangs out with Todd and Colleen at Da Beach House.

shell bottoms off Brush. Geoff hooked-up on his very first cast. Using live bait under a popping cork, something had his rod bent in half. Excitement was obvious in Geoff's voice as he yelled out, "what is it, what is it?"

Captain Mike and I looked at each other with the knowledge that comes from years of experience. It was a diver, it didn't run, it didn't break the surface. It was a kitty fish. A big one at spots and caught fish at each one.

On the way back in, we stopped at one of my favorite spots. One that Captain Mike also fishes. I call it Winn Dixie Point because of the quantity of fish we regularly catch there. When people ask where this spot is, my answer is, South. Or, in the marsh.

The place was true to form. We had a great falling tide, almost too much. We fished the spot where a little bayou was draining a large, shallow lake surrounded by marsh.

With fresh cut croaker, I went to the bottom. First cast and a strike. I thought it might be a flounder so instead of setting the hook, I let the line sit still, counted to 30 and slowly reeled in the slack. When I felt a nod on the end of the line, I set the hook. The water exploded as the flounder fought back in a losing effort.

The trick to catching flounder is to be patient.

drinks, bottled water, snacks, ice, fuel, bait, tackle, licenses, everything you need for a great day on the water. Bring your own beer and sandwiches, everything else is provided.

The Kistler custom fishing rods with Shimano reels were outstanding, easy casting, responsive and strong.

Regular fishing trips last six, eight or ten hours and up to four people can fish comfortably. Bottom fishing, drift fishing, surf fishing, sight casting or wade fishing, its up to you. And Captain Mike's newest adventure is kayak fishing. Just image to places you could get into on a kayak launched from the main boat!

Call Captain Mike Thompson at Shore Thing Charters, 228-342-2206 for more information or to book your next trip. Or visit his website at www.shorethingcharters.com.

was that, what was that?" Benson wanted to know. Captain Mike and I again looked at each other and again with our many years of fishing wisdom, agreed that it could have been just about anything. Your guess is as good as ours.

We picked up a couple of specks using beetles and zoom baits under corks. And then nothing. Time to move. With all the great fishing areas of the marsh, it makes no sense at all to waste your time in one area too long if you are not nailing the fish.

On to Martin Island. Beautiful area. Sun just getting bright, Brown Pelicans everywhere and fish popping the surface of the water.

We again drifted the shell bottoms. Benson connected from the bow of the boat and pulled in another nice speck. Then it was Geoff's turn. "Fish on!" Another speck. Then two or three catfish.

We moved the boat back to the north side of Martin and drifted again. Benson had another fish on before I could make my first cast. The fish was pulling so hard, it almost caused Benson to lose his footing. This one got away, breaking the line again.

We fished several other

These fine eating fish will "kill" their prey with their front teeth and then slowly take it into their mouth. If you try to set the hook when you feel the first bump, you will pull the bait out of the flounder's mouth or the fish will clamp down on the bait only to let it go when you get it near the boat and laugh at you as it swims away.

Within half an hour we had all the flounder we could handle.

Time to head home. It's a very short run from anywhere in the marsh to the Islander Marina. It is real convenient. Back at the dock, Captain Mike cleaned our catch and bagged it for the trip home.

Shore Thing Charters offers many options to accommodate just about anyone's angling desires. Captain Mike provides soft

Geoff is a native of Kentucky and this was his first ever salt water fishing trip. It took him a few minutes to get his sea legs as we cruised out of the bayou and across the Mississippi Sound, past Flat Boat and the conservation camp and on out to Brush Island.

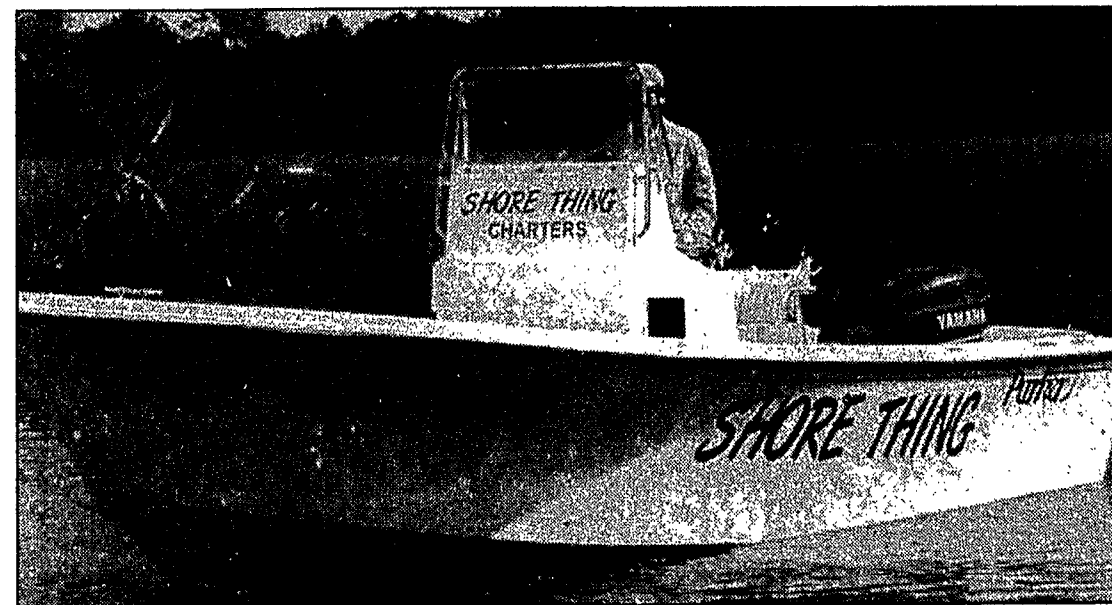

Benson and I had fished together earlier this year. And I can assure you that he was completely covered in total eclipse sunblock. His last trip left him looking like an over cooked lobster. Not this time.

Captain Mike threw out the sea anchor to slow the boat as we drift fished the that. About a four pound gaft-top catfish.

Geoff was beaming. It was, he proclaimed, the biggest fish he had ever caught. He was somewhat dismayed when Captain Mike removed the hook and tossed the fish back into the water. Talk about busting your bubble.

While all this was happening, Benson had a battle on his hands. Something had taken the white, plastic grub he had on the bottom. This fish was big and it was running. In fact it was so big and running so fast that it didn't bother to stop. The rod suddenly straightened as the line snapped. "What

Don't overlook the fishing at Cat Island

The weather and tide conditions this past week have been nothing short of perfect, and the fishing is simply awesome. Good reports are coming in from all across the coast and I can personally attest to the following.

Cat Island is definitely one place not to be overlooked when running to the Louisiana marsh or beyond. Good fishing can be had all around the island; the more successful anglers obviously are those that take the time to learn the island. Approach it with a little caution and a lot of patience and you are sure to produce.

Here are some pointers to get you started. The troughs that parallel the island on both sides are great places to search for feeding fish, look for concentrations of bait on the surface, diving birds, slicks, or simply trout "popping" on top of the water. I find the most successful method to fish these troughs is to wade on the sand bars and fish in the troughs.

The baits of choice here vary for every angler, while

THE SEA COAST ECHO
FISHING REPORTby Capt. Mike Thompson
www.shorethingcharters.com

it seems that live shrimp under a popping cork is universal, DOA shrimp or sparkle beetles either under a cork or tight lined have also been producing well.

The sandbars that run away from the island at both tips of the eastern end are always worth cruising around for Spanish mackerel, shark, or even cobia. Here the definite bait of choice is a spoon rigged with a wire leader to put the odds of chance on your side when dealing with these toothy critters.

The Louisiana marsh has certainly been fickle so far this year when it comes to producing any big trout, however I don't think anyone would argue with the amount of action that these little trout make available. Several spots along the eastern edge of the marsh seem to be producing more keepers than much of the area inside of the marsh.

Isle au Pitre has certainly saved many a trip for others and myself this past month and should not be overlooked. Fish along the lee shore concentrating on the ledges, it seems that the earlier in the day it is the less water the trout are holding in.

Working further south some good reports are coming in from Pfeifer Key, however I have not fished there in about a month. Brush Island has been producing well, with particular attention focused on the western tip of the island and the cut.

Mitchell Island is probably one of my best bets this month for many of you wade fishermen. The western tip here has probably produced more fish for those who choose to venture there when Flatboat and Pfeifer are either too crowded or just not producing.

Topwaters have been the bait of choice for the trout early in the morning recently, however once the sun gets a little higher and the clouds burn off I prefer to use soft plastics either under a popping cork or bunched off of the bottom.

In the event that those fickle trout aren't cooperating on your next trip to the marsh many of you will be happy to know that the redfish have decided to make a return appearance to the marsh starting this past week. Guests aboard my boat have landed three redfish over twenty pounds on the past two trips along with several other nice ones in the eight to fifteen pound range.

The bait of choice for these monsters seems to be Carolina rigged DOA's or plastic cocahoes tight lined on jigheads, of course it is a rare occurrence when one of these brutes turns away from a live cocahoe minnow.

Until next week, be safe, and please remember to be courteous to your fellow fishermen.

St. Martin barely escapes with volleyball victory over Bay High

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay High Lady Tigers volleyball team opened their 2003 season with a home match against Class 5A St. Martin. The Lady Yellow Jackets pulled off a narrow win over the homestanding Lady Tigers 2-1. The scores of the three games were 15-12, 11-15, and 15-13.

In the first set, St. Martin jumped out to a 9-0 lead before a block by Kendra Reed scored Bay High's first point. Younger sister Tamara Reed served up six consecutive points to get Bay High back in contention. Each team picked away at each other for most of the game.

Down 13-8, Bay High roared back and tied the game before St. Martin claimed the win with two consecutive points.

In the second match, Bay High was clearly the dominant team. The Lady Tigers jumped out to a 7-4 lead before St. Martin roared back and pulled to within a point 11-10 behind some powerful serves. Bay High broke the serve and nibbled away at the Lady Yellow Jackets for the 15-11 win.

In the rubber match, Bay High went six straight possessions before scoring a point. St. Martin built a 6-0 lead before Kendra Reed served up two points.

St. Martin continued to chip away at Bay High and eventually got to game point 14-9. Heather Burge of Bay High served up four consecutive points with help from the line of Tamara Reed, Kendra Reed and Tori Lansaw.

St. Martin was able to hold off the final charge of the Lady Tigers to claim the win 15-13 and the match.

Lady Tigers head coach Liz Bosarge stated, "Both teams gave tremendous effort. We feel we have a well-rounded team this season and are looking forward to finding out what lays ahead. We will have some stronger out of district competition with the way the division is set up this season. The players are ready for the challenge."

Bay High drops to 0-1 on the young season. The LadyTigers next home game is Thursday, August 21.
